CHRISTMAS EVE FIRE VICTIMS. Children of Mr. and Mrs. John Lique are outfitted with clothes at Coordinated Youth Services after a fire at 9:25 a.m. Friday destroyed their home at 2224 Edna St. and all possessions. Mrs. Lique, at right rear, holding Jeffrey, 18 months, led the five children to safety. Members of the Church Women United helping are Mrs. Lucille Webb, at left, holding Brian, 2. Standing next to them is Debbie, 9, while Mrs. Vergie Daniel, front, aids Kelly, 5, and Mark, 6. Firemen and police officers contributed funds to provide for the family's immediate needs.

GC Family Left Homeless by Fire Finds Christmas Not So Hopeless

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

It was miraculous how the mother got them all out of there," a Granite City police lieutenant commented after a heartwarming fire at 9:25 a.m. Friday left a Granite City family of seven homeless, without clothes, food or the means to obtain them.

All five children were sleeping and only the mother was at home when the fire started at 2224 Edna St. The blaze thoroughly gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lique and their five children, Jeffrey, 18 months, Brian, 3, Kelly, 5, Mark, 6, and Debra, 9.

The six-room brick dwelling, owned by Earl Barnett, was being rented by the Lique family. An investigation into the cause of the fire is underway.

The blaze, believed to have started near the Christmas tree in the living room, had "totally" involved the building by the time the fire engines arrived, a spokesman for the fire department said Friday afternoon.

$8,000 Damage

The building was completely gutted, with loss of contents estimated at $8,000 and the structure lost placed at $6,500.

Equally as miraculous as the children's escape to safety, led by their mother, Mrs. Beverly Lique, was the immediate response with aid to the family by Granite City fire and police department personnel, individual citizens, Catholic Charities and Coordinated Youth Services.

Granite City Police Lieutenant Everett Kelly, who personally escorted the family to the CVS center, Catholic Charities office and police headquarters.

ters, commented, "It was just wonderful how everyone pitched in to help."

At City Hall, police officers on duty took up a collection. So did the firemen at the main station who contributed $115 to the Liques.

Ralph Parks of the Benevolent Blind Association, hearing a report of the blaze on radio, came in person to Granite City and delivered a $100 check to Mrs. Lique, Lt. Kelly said.

Provide Clothing, Food

"Bud MacMillan of Coordinated Youth Services opened the agency's facilities and provided clothing for the children, and groceries," the officer noted. More food and an order for shoes to outfit the destitute family were furnished by Catholic Charities, he said.

Members of the Quad-City Council of Church Women United came to the CVS "Nearby New Clothing Center" to help outfit the children.

Food and presents for the youngsters also were delivered to Mrs. Beverly Lique, 28, by the Rev. Gus Falter, pastor of Pontoon Baptist Church.

Lt. Kelly reported that the family, an auto mechanic trainee

Two Beaten, Robbed On Lot at Restaurant

Two persons were beaten and robbed after they parked on the lot at Charlie's Restaurant at 11:25 p.m. Saturday.

The victims were Charles Juneau, 2656 Delmar Ave., and Miss Linda Eddy, 2046 Cleveland Blvd.

Juneau told police that when he left his car he was grabbed from behind and struck in the face several times. A gold watch and two wallets containing $40 and papers were taken from him.

Another man slapped Miss Eddy several times when she was in the car and took her purse containing $5 and papers. Juneau said he broke free and ran, and while he was being chased by the two men, Miss Eddy locked the car and blew the horn, causing the assailants to leave in their auto.

Ask New Grand Jury to Correct 'Whitewash'; Pledge 'Clean-Up'

Calls are being made for a new Madison County Grand Jury investigation of Pontoon Beach governmental doings in the wake of a relatively mild Grand Jury report issued Dec. 21.

Although the investigation in progress for a number of weeks had been focused primarily on village policies, much of the Grand Jury's attention was directed in the final week to a raffle by a political party which has supported Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell.

The supervisor has been a critic of some Pontoon Beach happenings. He had not been a central figure in the investigation but was named in two charges—the raffle and attending a meeting at which the grand jury foreman, Steve Payne, was present.

Whitsell said Saturday he feels the jury either ignored facts or failed to respond to facts about the administration of Pontoon Beach President Thomas Stauch.

"It was the most disgraceful whitewash that I've ever witnessed," Whitsell said. "I don't know why they whitewashed it. But the witnesses actually proved every charge.

"I know that problems do exist in Pontoon Beach. And the way the jury put it, they do, too. But they are not going to do anything about it."

"They have made (Trustee Fred) Reer the sacrificial lamb. The entire board should be charged. Every member knew there was a conflict of interest; I told them so many times."

Discussing vice and misconduct allegations, Whitsell said he personally reported some offenses to Madison County authorities.

The supervisor and others contend that grand jurors have included close friends of those under investigation.

Another critic of the grand jury report is Floyd "Dave" Moss, 31, who was fired Thursday night as part-time village health inspector ($25 monthly) after being accused of referring to Pontoon Beach as "Ma City."

The SIU-SW psychology student denied that he had used the "Ma" phrase but agreed that he thinks the village administration has erred.

Tax Rates Throughout Area to Hit New High

(First of a series)

Nineteen seventy-one is expected to bring many things, among them higher local property taxes—and expanded activity by an existing watchdog organization, the Tri-Cities Taxpayers Public Expenditures Survey Group.

Not all tax increases are bad, but the general upward necessities stepped-up scrutiny, in the opinion of members of the Survey Group.

A mid-January meeting to consider the 1972 role of the group currently is in the planning stages.

"Total rate for the seven Venice tax agencies embracing District Three is predicted at $5,215, up 2.6% or 14.44 cents from $5,377."

"The projected rate of five taxing agencies in Nameoki Township, excluding those day night, which is only a part of the township, is $5,064, compared with $4,843, up 22.15 cents or 4.5%."

"In all instances, projected new tax rates include a prospective increase of 8.2 cents for the 1970 year to 43.2 cents for the 1971 year, on the basis of the year's valuation and a substantial tax levy increase."

(Next: Impact of home rule.)

Moss, Mrs. Lillian Singer, Mrs. Rosemary McBride and Mrs. Norman Ellsworth went to the office of State's Attorney R. W. Griffith Thursday morning to ask why they or Payne had not been charged for attending the meeting Nov. 9 with the jury foreman.

Whitsell, Wood River Supervisor Roger Eble and an Alton reporter were charged with contempt for conferring with the foreman.

"Griffith was about to leave for court. He saw us coming and said, 'I know why you're here and we'll charge you if you want to be charged,'" Moss said. Moss added that when Griffith

Burglars Hit Area Homes

A series of weekend holiday burglaries in which loot totaled several thousand dollars was reported to the Granite City Police department.

The home of Sam Sorton, 3314 Franklin Ave., was entered Christmas day between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. A bottle containing $10 in cash, mostly one-half dollars, and $50 from a dresser drawer were taken. Entry was made through a rear door that was forced.

Thieves forced the rear door of the apartment of Joe P. Beagand, 2242 Grand Ave., Saturday night. He returned home Sunday morning to learn $686 worth of personal items were missing. A stereo record player worth $256 and several household items were among the loot.

Garage Burglarized

On Christmas Eve thieves entered the garage of Laura Kent, 2601 Dodge Ave., by forcing the door. A tool box and tools belonging to Leo Konkel, 2600 Sheridan Ave., were taken.

Burglars took $41 from a dresser drawer at the home of Mike Schuren of Granite City between 9 p.m. and 1:15 a.m. Friday.

Items valued at $362.88, including two shotguns were taken from the home of Harry Hanna, 2412 Iowa St., Friday. Entry was gained by breaking a storm door and the glass on a wooden door, then unhooking a chain lock. The house was ransacked and all the Christmas presents were unwrapped and thrown around. The thieves apparently cut themselves as considerable blood was found around the house.

Tree of Lights Quota Over The Top; Drive Continues

Thanks to the generosity of many Quad-Cityans from all walks of life, the Salvation Army's 1971 "Tree of Lights" campaign to raise $10,000 for needy families went over the top during the weekend.

A total of $10,250 tallied today at the Salvation Army office, 1229 Nineteenth St., illuminated all the 400 lights on the traditional tree in Memorial Park across from St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Although the $10,000 goal has been achieved, additional contributions will continue to be sought to help defray a $1,200 deficit the Salvation Army incurred when last year's Christmas quota was not reached, Captain Ronald J. Kerley, local commander, said.

"Every penny donated so far to the current drive is needed for expenses this year," the officer said.

A record-breaking number of applicants, in excess of 800 families, sought assistance from the Salvation Army this Christmas.

Holiday baskets were distributed last week to 630 Quad-City families, plus toys and other gifts. The total number of applications was depleted by area church, civic and social groups who called the Salvation Army and were given a family to aid during the holidays, Capt. Kerley said.

Several applicants failed to meet requirements established prior to the start of the fundraising drive, which also reduced the original number of families receiving aid.

Layoffs Nearer As Strike Continues

The six-week old strike of United Steelworkers of America Local 1022 at the Castings Division of General Steel Industries continued today as impending layoffs of more than 100 employees draw nearer.

The layoffs have been ordered early next month if the strike has not yet been resolved, a company spokesman said today. More than half of the salaried workers employed at the plant will be affected.

No meetings between the striking union and the company with Gilbert Kannenberg, a representative of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service, St. Louis, had been set this morning, the spokesman said.

Area Committee Races Centered in Nameoki Twp.

Quad-City area contests for precinct committeemen posts in next year's March 21 primary election will center on the Democratic ballot in Nameoki township where races have developed in nine of the township's 11 voting precincts, completed filings at the office of County Clerk Eulalia Hotz showed today.

Petitions of candidacy have been filed by two candidates on the Democratic ballot in each of Precincts 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 11. Only one candidate filed in the Democratic election in each of Precincts 5 and 10.

On the Republican ballot in Nameoki township, there are no contests. Little interest was indicated in the GOP committee posts, in fact, with only one candidate each filing in Precincts 1, 3, 4, 7 and 9. There were no candidates filing for the republican posts in Nameoki Precincts 2, 5, 6, 8, 10 and 11.

Area Committee Races Centered in Nameoki Twp.

The nine Democratic committeemen races in Nameoki township far outstrip the number developed in other townships of the Quad-City area.

Six GC Races

In the 32 precincts of Granite City, only six races are on the Democratic ballot and one on the Republican ballot. Only one Democratic candidate filed in each of 26 precincts, while two candidates each filed in Precincts 1, 8, 13, 14, 16 and 27.

Two Republicans filed to file candidates in Granite City Precincts 1, 2, 4, 6, 8, 9, 11, 19, 20, 30 and 32 and only one GOP candidate is seeking the committeemen posts in the other 21 precincts.

Only two committeemen contests are on the Democratic ballot in Venice township—in Precincts 1, 3, 4, 7 and 9.

Area Traffic Death Toll at All-Time High

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Traffic fatalities occurring in the Quad-City area during the last 12 months involving local residents in other localities, have hit an all-time record high this year in a total of 46 deaths, a compilation of statistics by the Press-Record showed today.

The total number of fatalities exceeds by one the previous record of 44 area traffic fatalities set in 1954 when 44 persons died as the result of traffic accidents. For statistical purposes, Quad-City fatalities list all persons who die in accidents within the Quad-City area, as well as accidents in other parts of the country in which Quad-City area residents are the victims. Included in the total are 12 deaths on Route 3 or the adjacent FA Route 151 which demand for traffic control on those highways.

The 12 deaths resulted from nine accidents in which 22 persons also were injured. Three of the accidents, accounting for three deaths and ten injuries, occurred at the intersection of Route 3 and West Pontoon Road.

Three fatal accidents in this particular area were at Route 3 and Chain of Rocks Road, FA 151, and Rock Road, 151, on which four persons lost their lives in three accidents. Six persons also were injured in those mishaps.

One accident each occurred on Route 111 at the intersection of Chain of Rocks Road, Sand Prairie Lane and near Interstate 70.

Other accidents on Sand Prairie Lane were responsible for two deaths, one each at the intersection with I-70 and I-70. Ten local persons lost their lives and eight persons were injured in eight out of town accidents.

Fatalities in Area

The remaining deaths were scattered throughout the area. Other areas and the number of fatalities were: Maryville Road at Maryville School, 1 pedestrian; McKinley Bridge, 1; State Aid Route 35 and Old Granite City Road, 1; I-270 and Route 203, 1; Route 203 at the railroad crossing, 1; the Cambridge Avenue Viaduct, 1; West 20th Street, 1; and Route 157 at the entrance to Southern Illinois University-Southwest, 1.

In addition, one pedestrian was injured in a fatality when he was struck by a car on Pontoon Road in Pontoon Beach, and a boy was killed when he fell from the trunk of a moving auto in a Madison alley.

Thus far in 1971, a total of 1,719 accidents has been reported on Quad-City streets and highways in which 837 persons were injured. This is an average of 4.71 accidents per day here with 2.28 persons injured each day.

The record of traffic fatalities set so far this year, with nearly a week of the year still remaining, is an increase of 104% over the 22 fatalities recorded in 1970.

The total number of area accidents this year is a sharp increase over that of 1970, as is the number of persons injured. While there have been 1,719 accidents reported for the first 11 months of this year, there was a total of 2,362 recorded during the 12 months of 1970.

Statistics show a total of 837 injuries during this year through November, compared to a 12-month total of 1,262 injury cases last year.

The number of fatalities occurring annually since the 1954 record were: 1955, 26; 1956, 27; 1957, 25; 1958, 25; 1959, 24; 1960, 18; 1961, 25; 1962, 20; 1963, 36; 1964, 24; 1965, 23; 1966, 39; 1967, 27; 1968, 35; 1969, 40; and 1970, 22.

Kerner Case May Have Almost No Vote Impact

By KEN WATSON
Capitol News Service

Springfield — Statehouse observers doubt that the indictment of former Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner will have much of an effect on the 1972 Illinois election campaign.

This appears to be in contrast to some early commentary flowing out of Washington and Chicago. But as far as Downstate is concerned, the feeling beneath the Capitol Dome is that the upcoming battle will go on pretty much as anticipated.

What effect the Kerner scandal does have in Illinois may well be limited primarily to Cook County, where Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley insisted on resigning State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan despite Hanrahan's own indictment in the Black Panther slaying case—and then dumped him on the final day for filing of candidates.

But as far as statewide races are concerned, especially the governorship, the Kerner affair will be a minor, not major factor.

The main reasoning behind this belief is that it is the Republicans who are the dominant party in power. Scandal becomes a big political factor when it involves those in office and can be used as a "throw the rascals out" weapon.

Also, Kerner has been gone from Springfield for nearly four years and that is a long time in politics. People are more concerned with immediate issues.

The indictment of Kerner and some top aides came after long months of press speculation that this would happen and, as a result, the political impact, at least, has been diluted.

Deploable as the fact may be, Illinoisans in general appear numb as far as political scandal at high levels of state government is concerned.

The incredible story that flowed from the shoe-box board of the late Secretary of State Paul Powell has still to be entirely digested.

Furthermore, ever since the Powell story broke, there has been a seemingly endless flow of revelations concerning race track stock involvement by one or more legislators or political figures.

To many voters, the Kerner disclosures — dramatic as they are — are but another chapter in a long, sad story.

Although the big principals have mostly been Democrats, there have been sufficient Republicans involved to provide a bipartisan flavor to the whole matter.

Reports reaching Springfield from the grassroots are that voters are inclined to blame all politicians for the race track stock mess without discriminating between the parties.

Nor is it considered likely that either Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie or his Democratic challenger Lt. Gov. Paul Simon will be appreciably helped or hurt by the Kerner case.

Ogilvie is credited with running a relatively scandal-free administration and has sternly cracked down on the minor instances of suspected wrongdoing that have inevitably developed.

Both Ogilvie and Simon have made high marks in disclosure of income, both strongly backing legislation that would have established a meaningful code of ethics in Illinois.

The Ogilvie-Simon outcome will be decided on other issues.

The Statehouse is singularly unimpressed by Washington speculation that the national GOP administration stage-managed the Kerner indictments to insure that President Nixon carries Illinois.

Venice Seeks Back Pay Increases for Teachers

Venice Supt. of Schools John O. Pier will file an $16 claim requested by Venice Teachers Local 965 seeking to retrieve salary increases due under the 1971-72 salary schedule but disallowed by the Federal Wage-Price Freeze.

Permission to attempt to reclaim back wages through a procedure established by the Wage-Price Board was granted last week by the Venice Board of Education. The claim can only be filed by an employer in behalf of the employee, it was learned.

Venice teachers initially received the 1971-72 raises despite the wage-freeze. Late last month, however, the raises were rescinded upon advice of Board Attorney Larry Hartman and at the direction of Internal Revenue Service officials.

Salaries were adjusted to the 1970-71 wage level and repayment of $500-a-cross-the-board pay hikes granted under terms of a two-year contract from the start of the current school year was made to the district by Venice faculty members, Pier stated.

Playground Use Approved
Board officers also signed an agreement with the Alpha Baptist Church, located at 620 Nidringhaus Ave., to utilize a fenced playground area and equipment twice weekly for eight children who attend trainee classes in the Venice district.

Youngsters from the three local school districts participate in the Venice TMH Class, conducted under the Special Education Region 1 program.

In other action, the board awarded a contract to Venice the machine shop at Venice High School to Rite Electric Co., which presented a low bid of $542.

Five bids were submitted by area roofing firms to reconstruct the Venice gymnasium roof. After a preliminary survey, the bids were turned over to the building committee for recommendation.

The delaying action was taken when it was learned guarantees ranged from 10 to 15 years and proposals showed other variances in the method and types of materials to be used. A further consideration involved the time element, with some bidders failing to give a work completion date.

A Venice teacher, Mrs. Betty Cunningham and a teacher's aide, Mrs. Belva Blakely, were complimented in a letter from Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, superintendent of the Educational Service Region. The women completed a workshop in reading at the Columbus School, Edwardsville, taking part in the program on their own time.

Tuition fees were approved for Mark F. Koelker, 207 Hampden St., Venice, to attend Lewis and Clark Junior College, Alton, at district expense.

Permission was granted the Neighborhood Youth Corps to use the Venice-Lincoln gymnasium for basketball practice on Friday evenings and St. Mark's CYO group to utilize the small gymnasium at Venice High School on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, or whenever the room was not otherwise in use.

Purchasing a new type of insurance program available to school personnel, including students, teachers and administrative staff members providing coverage in the area of civil rights, was proposed by Supt. Pier and discussed. No action was taken.

Purse, $35 Stolen
Ganline Firebaugh, 2216 Edwards St., reported at 8:05 p.m. Sunday that her purse was stolen from the Big Washer Laundromat, 2247 Madison Ave. It contained $35 to $40 in change, photos, a white wallet and an immigration card.

She was born in Madison, and had lived her entire life in this area. Mrs. Grba was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Jaycees Entertain Children in Hospital

Clowns competed with Santa Claus last week for the attention of youngsters confined in the pediatric ward at St. Elizabeth Hospital and everybody benefitted from the show, according to Wayne Worthen of the Granite City Jaycees who arranged the club's annual Christmas party.

Thirty-five children from toddlers to pre-teens enjoyed the affair which included a special visit from Santa Claus who gave each child a gift, and entertainment by other special guests of the local jaycees.

Three colorfully clad clowns representing Moolah Shrine Temple played tricks, talked with and generally entertained the young guests. Refreshments of hamburgers, soda and cookies were served, furnished by local merchants. Shasta Beverage Co., Black's Bakery and Burger King.

In addition to the children's party, the Jaycee organization presented a crib cover to the hospital. The young men's service club has donated several plastic covers in the past, which now are replacing netting formerly used on hospital cribs to prevent youngsters from climbing out and falling.

LITTLE TOO YOUNG to fully appreciate the antics of a real live clown are toddlers in the pediatric ward at St. Elizabeth Hospital during the Granite City Jaycees' annual Christmas party for hospitalized children. The Jaycee hosts were aided by clowns from Moolah Shrine Temple and a traditional visit from Santa Claus.

Proceeds contributed by local bowlers competing in the "Jaycees Bowling Sweepstakes" last month were used toward funding the annual benefit project, Worthen said.

Special visitors at the hospital party were Miss Janice Albers—Miss Granite City—Tom Beard of Belleville and "Mr. Hildebrandt" of the Moolah Shrine Temple.

Assisting the project chairman were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gann, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Talley, Mr. and Mrs. David Partney, Mrs. Sylvia Woods, Bill Weible, Larry Patton, Tim Thrane, Owen Ross and Earl Warnhoff.

Blankenship-Conroy Wedding In Indiana

The wedding of Miss Marcia Ann Conroy and James C. Blankenship was solemnized Sunday in an afternoon ceremony at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Rushville, Ind., before an altar decorated with baskets of green and pink carnations.

A double ring service was performed by the Rev. James Dooley at 2 o'clock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Conroy, 222 W. 7th St., Rushville, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton E. Blankenship, 2308 Clark Ave.

Mr. Conroy escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She chose a floor length gown of sate peau designed with a bib effect bodice and Empire waistline. The collar was edged with a delicate ruffle of Venice lace and pink satin ribbon and the trimming was repeated on the cuffs of the long sheer sleeves and ruffled hemline.

A bow of sate peau held in place her elbow length veil of silk illusion and she carried a bridal bouquet of baby white carnations tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Alice Koenig was maid of honor, Miss Beth Conroy and Miss Jane Conroy, both sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Cupt, were bridesmaids.

They were attired in identically styled gowns fashioned with an Empire bodice of hot pink crepe, a stand-up collar and long puff sleeves. A full skirt of polyester puff print fabric featured a green background with flowers in shades of pinks and greens. A narrow green velvet ribbon encircled the high waistline.

Charles Worster and daughters, Kim and Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams and daughter, Lisa, Mr. and Mrs. John McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Ray White, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Price, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Milliken and children, Randy, Joe and Loretta, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Nash and Miss Connie Blackburn.

The "newlywed game" was played by the two longest-married couples, the Woodwards and the Motts. Entertainment for the evening was provided by Mrs. Marge Ellsworth at the piano, and "oldsters" spent time reminiscing about early Christmas.

Each attendant wore a bow in matching hot pink on their hair. The honor attendant carried a bouquet of pink carnations, while the bridesmaids held bouquets of green carnations.

Courtney Gushlett, a niece of the groom, flower girl, wore a floor length frock similar in style to the bridesmaids' dresses. She carried a basket of green and pink carnations.

The groom chose Mary Hatfield as best man. Groomsman were John Love, a brother-in-law of the groom, Terry Manning, and Jack Conroy, the bride's brother.

Mrs. Conroy appeared in an A-line dress with matching jacket in deep pink crepe complemented with dyed-to-match accessories. Her corsage was made up of pink carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Blankenship, selected an aqua blue crepe dress, featuring a stand-up collar and long sleeves trimmed in matching colored braid. She wore a white carnation corsage.

A reception for guests was held at the Durban Hotel in Rushville immediately following the ceremony. After a wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains, the couple will make their home in Granite City.

The bride is a graduate of Rushville High School and Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. She is employed as a book and Spanish teacher at Central Junior High School.

Mr. Blankenship was graduated from Assumption High School in East St. Louis. He served four years in the U. S. Navy and presently is enrolled at SIU-SW.

Departments Replace Faculties at SIU-SW

Funeral organizational units within academic divisions at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will be known as departments rather than faculties, the Board of Trustees has decided.

Trustees adopted a resolution calling for the change in nomenclature. The proposal was previously endorsed by the academic deans conference, the vice-president and provost, and the president.

Red Devils Open Defense Of Columbia Crown Today

The Venice High School Red Devils will begin a four-day defense of their title as champions of the Columbia Holiday Basketball Tournament at 5 p.m. today when they meet Valleyview in Columbia.

Venice has won the championship five of the last six years, but they are seeded second. This year Lebanon, which is favored, started the action today at 9 a.m. against Gibault of Waterloo. Red Bud is ranked third.

If the Devils win today, they play again at 8 p.m. Tuesday against the winners of the Carlyle and New Athens game to be played at 8:30 p.m. today. If they lose, they play a consolation game at 1 p.m. Tuesday.

Staying on the optimistic side, the Devils will probably meet Columbia in the semi-finals at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The championship game will be played at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Other teams participating in the tournament are St. Paul of Highland, Du Puy, Livingston, Freeburg, Chester, Christopher and Waterloo.

It will be an up-hill climb for the Red Devils who lack the speed offense that last year won the championship for them. They go into the tourney with a 2-3 record.

Holiday Mat Tourney To Open on Wednesday

Twelve Granite City High School varsity wrestlers will be fighting to earn championships in their weight classes against 180 wrestlers from 15 other schools in Granite City's annual holiday wrestling tournament Wednesday and Thursday at the school gymnasium.

Although the Warrior grapplers are not favored to win the event, they enter the event with one of the most impressive mid-season records of any school in the competition.

The Warriors have wrestled in 145 matches this year and have won 111 of them, 56 by pins. They have lost only 29 matches and have fought to five draws. The wrestlers have accumulated 523 individual wrestling points.

The holiday tournament traditionally marks the mid-point of the season and the Warriors claim a clean record in the first half with eight consecutive victories in dual meets with no losses.

The defending champion is East St. Louis Lincoln. Sterling placed second here last year. Granite City finished in a tie for third with Peoria Richards. All three teams will be in competition here.

Others entered include Stephen Decatur, Alton, Belleville East, Bloomington, Carbondale, Bethalto, East St. Louis, Jacksonville, Edwardsville, Riverview Gardens, Roxana and Wood River.

Leading the Warriors into the holiday battle is Gary Loy (105), who has the only unblemished record this season on the squad. Loy has 13 victories with seven pins to his credit for 62 points. Doug Wilson (132) and Kerry Johnson (119) maintain undefeated records but each have been tied once. Wilson has 12 wins with seven pins for 58 points and Johnson has 12 wins with six pins for 57 points.

Other local records include wins, pins, losses, ties and wrestling points: Craig Stephens (heavyweight), 10-8-3-0-52; Tom Kalert (185), 11-5-2-0-51; Dennis Ragan (126), 8-5-2-0-39; Charlie Mayfield (138), 9-3-4-0-38; Phil Lapinski (98), 6-2-2-1-31; Rich Paschke (102), 7-2-4-0-29; Harry Miller (112), 6-2-4-0-25; and Kevin Niebur (126), 5-3-1-0-25.

Others who have accumulated varsity points are Jack Scholtey, 21; John Niebur, 13; Pat MacMillan, 12; Andy Morski, nine; and John Avedisian, two. The first round competition in the holiday tournament will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, and the Thursday session is set for noon with finals starting about 3 p.m. Competition is expected to be completed by 6 p.m. with the award's ceremonies immediately following.

More than 2,300 light bulbs glow in the outside Christmas lighting display at the home of Donald Bridick, 1125 McCambridge Ave., Madison. Bridick said he and his wife Karen spent more than 60 hours setting up the display, which added 600 new bulbs this year.

The Bridick home, and those of Miss Elaine Prince, 1723 Elizabeth St., and Ronald Grzywacz, 1204 Alton Ave., were selected as the three prize-winning outdoor lighting displays in Madison by a special committee of the Madison Rotary Club which awarded each of the home owners a $20 cash prize.

MORE ABOUT Ask New

fifth returned to his office at noon Thursday. "We asked if he'd charge not only us but the five others at the meeting who didn't show up Thursday morning, and also the foreman."

According to Moss, the state's attorney declined to charge Payne. Moss then told Griffith that, unless all were to be charged, "Just don't charge anyone." The matter was left there.

"It's just as well the nine won't be charged," Moss said, "because we want to testify Wednesday morning at the hearing on the contempt charges already issued."

Whitsell said he and others at the meeting plan to urge that a new grand jury be seated Jan. 20 look into Pontoon Beach issues.

Griffith expressed willingness Thursday to "ask the grand jury to reopen the investigation Tuesday if you people will send me an official communication" requesting it. He held his visitors that many persons who had promised to appear for their charges against the administration did not do so before the jury.

Moss concluded that the Dec. 21 jury report was a "joke."

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone said a reporter and two township supervisors in the group conferring with the grand jury foreman were chosen for contempt charges in order to prevent grand juries from being subjected to "politics."

The 4-1 vote to discharge Moss at a village board meeting was on a motion by Trustee Reeder.

The only dissenting vote was by Trustee Dean Rochester. President Staloff was present but did not vote.

Moss said he has "no hard feelings" about being fired and that "I still want to see things straightened out. I live here. We have a few undesirable characters who bring us this notoriety, but otherwise this village is made up of decent people."

Reeder said he has nothing personal against Moss but that he blames him for the "sin city" label and that it has given Pontoon Beach a bad name.

Reeder called for a special meeting "to try to get the village straightened out."

The trustee urged board members and citizens to find out "what has and hasn't been going on out here" and then to "try to get rid of this bad name."

He called for a "housecleaning, starting with this board and going all the way," including replacement of some employees.

"If we've got problems in the police, street, health or finance departments, let's get them ironed out," Reeder said.

Rochester agreed that some housecleaning needs to be done but not at a public meeting.

Rochester opposed bringing citizens into the "clean-up," saying he is against working with "people who have been glorifying themselves at the expense of the welfare of the village as a whole."

Each board committee is to make a "department by department" study of Pontoon Beach government and submit its recommendations to the village board at the next regular meeting Jan. 13.

MORE ABOUT GC Family

in the U. S. Department of Labor's WIN (Work Incentive Program), was working at Odell, near Centralia, at the time of the blaze.

Local police contacted the Clinton County sheriff's department which found the father, relayed the message and helped him get started for Granite City.

"People hearing about the fire stopped off at the station with clothing, or called wanting to know the sizes and ages of the children," the officer said.

Patrolmen rounded up toys for the children "just so Christmas wouldn't seem quite so hopeless," Lt. Kelly commented.

"All we wanted to do was get some food on the table for today and tomorrow (Christmas Day). More help will be needed this week as the family has lost everything," he added.

Friends arranged for the family to be housed in a mobile home located not far from their former dwelling, the police officer said.

Area residents wishing to help the Lignes may call Lt. Kelly at the Granite City Police Department, or leave donations at the station in City Hall.

Police, who were called at 2 p.m. by an operator of a neighboring service station, said Wallace threatened to shoot himself again and to stab himself with a knife which he held if anyone approached.

Authorities said he was dependent as he expected to be laid off from his job.

Wallace was armed with a 22-over-20 gauge over-and-under rifle-shotgun, according to police, who said that at one point he came outside on the porch with blood on his shirt.

Meanwhile, Police Lt. Everett Kelly used the phone at the service station and spoke to Wallace, his wife and brother at length in efforts to coax Wallace to go to the hospital.

He eventually agreed after Kelly told him the police department would cooperate to help him solve his problems, and that he should not hurt himself.

Wallace left the house after demanding that patrol cars and an ambulance leave the area. A crowd which congregated in the area during the afternoon was restrained by police, who also detoured traffic away from Nameoki Road.

Maeras Industrial Sites, Airport, Parks Can Aid Economic and Image

By ARNOLD CASSENS

President, Illinois Metro-East Industrial Development Corporation

I am certain that we have all asked ourselves, and perhaps even others, the question, "Why should we have an Illinois Metro-East Corporation?" The large number and variety of activities in which the corporation has been involved during the last several months provides part of the answer. Through the cooperative efforts of the City of Madison, and the Illinois Metro-East Corp., Madison and our area now have a publicity brochure describing the Stephens Maeras Industrial Park, one of the industrial lands in our area.

We, as well as others, can supply people with a professionally produced publication telling them about the positive features in our area. As I have said before, unless the customer knows we exist and that we can meet his needs we have little chance of "closing the sale," which in this case means having him locate in our area.

The brochure which helps to make this possible exists because we as a corporation cared enough about development everywhere and anywhere in the two counties of St. Louis-Illinois region to help produce it.

Other brochures will be produced for, but are not limited to, Belle-Vue Industrial Village (in cooperation with the Renhoff Agency) and for Highland (in cooperation with Ralph Smith).

Our area has a poor image, which in turn has a strong negative impact on economic development.

One of the recent steps we have taken to improve our image and to do something positive for our area is to sponsor in cooperation with Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Planning Commission a conference on neighborhood parks.

The meeting, which was attended by nearly 50 people from a variety of organizations in the region, clearly stimulated interest in an item that must occur if we are to make the area a better place in which to live.

If I could be permitted the liberty of "tooting our own horn," we as a corporation are doing far more than winning our hands and saying how nice it would be to have a better image; we are actively working toward improving this image.

Of course, our other activities continue. The industrial site map for Greater Belleville is progressing nicely, with the mailing of information requests to property owners of the area scheduled for the middle to the last part of January.

Weekly regional news summaries continue to be prepared.

We still have a lot to do. A formidable group of Missourians is now fighting the Missouri location for the new airport.

We still get "shot at" in almost a vindictive manner in the St. Louis press.

We have been given a great deal that is necessary, but we have also just begun.

Is Missouri More Eager to Downgrade This State Than End Severe Airport Congestion?

"Tis the season of the year to be jolly.

But it is difficult to smile or be placid about the onerousness and deceit of some of the St. Louis "civic leaders." In the pre-Christmas weeks they showed they would stoop to almost any method of blocking a metropolitan regional airport in Illinois.

Their big pitch at the moment, "What's the rush?" was answered well by Mayor Cervantes of St. Louis in an article in the Dec. 23 Press-Record.

Their delaying tactic is so transparent that it really doesn't deserve much of a reply. What they are trying to do is stall the airport authorization beyond the present terms of President Nixon, Governor Ogilvie and Mayor Cervantes—in the hope that one or more of the three will be defeated and that the successor will torpedo an Illinois airport. It's quite interesting to note that the Symington-Hearnes-Eagleton triumvirate is trying so hard to elect Mr. Muskie.

Despite the transparency and insincerity of the "hush and cry from the foot-dragging Missourians, eloquent answers can be given—in fact, cry out to be voiced—to the "Why not mark time?" question.

The "hurry"—which is not really that—results from realization that inaction has been the rule for far too many years. St. Louis ranks as a world leader in "missing the boat."

The alternative to inaction is action, and it was not until the State of Illinois and the City of St. Louis jointly provided a bit of let's build-an-airport action that the St. Louis County "elite" decided that there was need to create a new airport in Missouri.

Even now, with plumping hard for an impractical Missouri site or two or three, the "elite" is trying to convince Uncle Sam and the public that there can be a delay of another decade or two without much of a problem.

What really grips them about the Illinois plan is that they feel they can gain more profit from an airport if it is established directly within their governmental jurisdiction and sphere of influence. They didn't react for a long time, until it became crystal clear that Mr. Ogilvie and Mr. Cervantes meant business and knew what they were doing when it finally dawned on the St. Louis County that the Illinois airport proposal was for real, the horrible truth gaoled them into busy, unfair action—with typical anti-Illinois bias.

Even though an Illinois airport would be a great "shot in the arm" for St. Louis, and much more convenient for just about everybody than the present "shot in the back" of Missouri sites, they saw the issue primarily in terms of whether they could completely dom-

This Week in America's History

1771-72—Thomas Jefferson, 29, a lawyer and member of the Virginia House of Burgesses, married Martha Wayles Skelton, 23, widow of Bathurst Skelton.

They take up residence in a small pavilion (since referred to as "Honeymonth Cottage") which was completed in 1772.

Monticello, his mansion near Charlottesville, Va., which he had started to build in 1770.

His marriage had the effect of doubling his land holdings, including a large farm owned of Mrs. Jefferson's father.

The Jeffersons were to have six children, but two daughters were the only ones to live to maturity and Mrs. Jefferson herself died in 1782, slightly more than ten years after their marriage.

At Charleston, S.C., in the last week, 113 persons were sold at public auction by a gentleman planning to leave the province.

At an average price in pounds and shillings of what would be about $107 each, they brought the highest price for any "parcel of slaves" ever to be realized in the country.

1821-22—Annual deficits had made problems for the U.S. Treasury between 1819 and 1821, but improvement was to begin in 1822.

Surpluses between that time and 1829 were used to liquidate the public debt, which Secretary of the Treasury even complaining in 1836 of "the serious inconvenience of an overhanging Treasury."

Egyptian campaigns were in progress on the upper Nile from 1820-1823 with the primary object of finding gold and taking slaves.

This led to the conquest of the Sudan and the founding of Khartoum.

1871-72—Among new books on the Christmas season list "The Little Men of Concord," by Louisa May Alcott, of Concord, Mass., a writer since 1860, whose "Little Women" also had become a best seller after its publication in 1868, to remain as a kind of masterpiece for children.

Other books on the current list were "Wake Robin," a popular bird story by John Burroughs, famed American naturalist; and "Pike County," a western poetry by John Hay, Indiana-born former secretary to President Lincoln, at this time on the editorial staff of the New York Tribune, where most of the ballads had been published originally.

Hay, along with J. G. Nicolay, also a former Lincoln secretary, were to publish in 1890 what was for many years the most complete and authoritative 10-volume biography of the former president, "Abraham Lincoln: A History."

Hay was to be active in diplomacy from 1879 until his death in 1905, including service as only a simple bench, Mark Hopkins, then president of the college, and one of the great educators.

In an oft-quoted remark, he said: "Give me a log hut, with only a simple bench, Mark Hopkins on one end and I on the other, and you may have all the buildings, apparatus and libraries without him."

inane the airport-related business and construction boom.

Referring no progress and no airport to seeing someone else share in the benefits, these "big men," these "unselfish civic servants," began squawking loudly. And their caterwauling has yet to cease. Whether they will calm down a bit of quiet over the Christmas-New Year's holidays remains to be seen; the attack continued unabated in one of the St. Louis newspapers Christmas Eve.

How to accomplish their mission of "destroy the proposed airport through delay?" Why, heap ridicule on vulnerable Illinois, which reads a lot of Missouri propaganda but has no effective way of communicating with St. Louis-St. Louis County residents.

Illinois newspapers do not have widespread distribution across the river, and Missouri readers never get an accurate or complete picture of Madison and St. Clair Counties. Generally through crime stories, the "evil" territory east of the Mississippi is constantly tarred with an identical "East Side" brush—even though it really consists of a number of widely separated, widely varying communities. And its overall record of abiding by the law is better than that of the "West Side."

An illustration of how little the strategy has changed over the years is provided by a Press-Record "25 Years Ago" item of last week:

DECEMBER 20, 1946

Calling a public statement by Mayor Kaufmann of St. Louis about Illinois grossly unwarranted, Mayor Moerlein of Granite City sent him a letter asserting, "I can see no connection between the development of an airport that would be beneficial to the entire St. Louis metropolitan area and certain alleged conditions in some political subdivisions."

Referring to the indictment of six East St. Louis and St. Clair County officials for allowing gamblers to operate, Mayor Kaufmann had said, "I think the citizens of St. Louis will appreciate the hesitancy of the City Administration in investing its airport funds on the East Side."

In his letter, Mayor Moerlein did not call Kaufmann's attention to the reputation of the St. Louis sheriff, nor did he remind the St. Louis mayor that the proposed Horseshoe Lake airport is the project of the Quad-City area, with East St. Louis participation of secondary importance.

While the current attack on Illinois by Missourians is not startlingly different from that during the 1940s, what is new and different is that Lambert Airport is much busier, much more crowded, more totally hemmed-in than ever before.

Just this month we had an occasion to fly out of Lambert to the north and then back. The weather was unfavorable going away but ideal coming back. In both cases, fair weather and foul, the traffic was "stuck up," with long delays both in the air and on the ground.

This fact more than any other—that Lambert is too jammed and therefore excessively hazardous—reveals the otherwise intelligent Missourians' "block a new airport" campaign as not only dumb but dangerous.

Holiday Present to Lynch and Vesce Area

It was a great Christmas present for residents of the Lynch, Stearns and Vesce areas to learn that the City of Granite City has provided $20,000 to install a ten-inch drain to carry stormwater to lines leading to the Nameki drainage channel.

The plan, including a submerged pump, is expected to involve a capacity of 100,000 gallons an hour. This should bring considerable relief to the area, long plagued by water during heavy rains, such as those of Dec. 9-10.

Many other serious drainage problems remain and it is good to know that Granite City, Nameki Township, Chouteau Township and the Madison County Board are engaged in efforts to solve them.

Half Have Eye Problems; 500,000 Will Become Blind in Next Decade

One of the groups most active in forwarding information to the Press-Record is the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness, based on State Street in Chicago.

It points out that more than 100 million Americans—nearly half the population—have some form of eye disorder or impaired vision.

Of the 100 million, 3,500,000 have serious visual problems and 500,000 are blind.

This year, 330,000 Americans suffered significant visual loss and 30,000 of these became blind.

Projected into the future, the ISPB estimates that over a half-million Americans will become blind in the next decade if the present trend continues—an extremely sad and unfortunate prospect.

Blindness is not confined to any particular segment of society. Anyone can be a potential victim.

But half of these cases of blindness can be prevented. To help in this objective, the Illinois Society recommends that every adult have his eyes examined every two years; children's eyes should be checked every year.

Until recently, doctors were concentrating their attention on screening surveys to detect glaucoma in the over-40 age group.

As a result of recent research, they have begun to think in terms of detecting a susceptibility to glaucoma at an earlier age before any permanent changes have resulted in the eye. Glaucoma is among the leading causes of blindness in the U.S.

The incidence of cataract, the No. 1 cause of blindness, increases with age. The Illinois Society estimates that nearly 60% of those aged 60 have cataracts.

For those aged 80, the incidence of cataract approaches 100%.

Today, cataract operations are 96% successful, with vision restored to 20/30 or better in 83% of the cases.

There is no barrier to surgery. Even persons in their 90s may benefit from cataract surgery if their health is good.

In patients who have both chronic glaucoma and cataracts, the interference with vision, cataract surgery is often followed by a marked improvement in glaucoma as well as vision.

According to Bernard Becker, M.D., and John F. Biggs, M.D., of St. Louis. They reported these findings at the latest meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology.

To increase the life span is the key factor in the continuing increase in blindness.

An estimated 47% of the nation's total population of 200 million is 65 years of age and over. Of these reporting severe visual handicaps, the National Health Survey, 67% were over 65 years of age.

Hypertension and arteriosclerosis in the older population cause more serious eye problems yearly.

Hypertension and arteriosclerosis are leading causes of various diseases of the retina, leading to blindness.

Hypertension can and should be treated. Research is urgently needed in arteriosclerosis to prevent blindness caused by this disease, the ISPB reports.

The group's holiday season reminder to parents is that a toy safe for one age group may be a hazard for a younger child.

Even apparently safe toys can sometimes prove dangerous.

The "eyes" can often be pulled out of a stuffed animal or doll by an inquisitive child, exposing sharp spikes which could destroy vision.

Other toys which can be considered dangerous to sight are bow and arrow sets, darts and blowguns.

Toy guns that shoot rubber pellets can be dangerous because the pellets are lead and the youngsters frequently substitute BB shot.

Popular toys causing serious concern are the so-called "clacker balls." These are simple devices consisting of two plastic spheres on either end of a string. When they are knocked together, they produce a loud "clacking" sound. The danger is that the plastic sometimes fragments into a shower of sharp particles which can damage the eye.

Green and smoke gray are the best tints to select for sunglasses, according to the Illinois Society. These colors absorb harmful sun rays and affects color perception the least.

Wearing today's pink, yellow, orange, red or violet lenses can cause unpleasant results in eyestrain, fatigue and inability to see clearly in bright sunlight.

The purpose of sunglasses is to protect the eyes from glare and from the sun's harmful rays. ISPB says they should be worn both winter and summer, whenever needed for eye comfort.

Children's sunglasses considered to be lazy, dull or emotionally disturbed are not at all, the Prevention of Blindness group points out. Often, faulty vision is to blame.

A large part of the child population is affected by a form of blindness known as "lazy eye blindness."

This is a condition in which the two eyes do not work in harmony. One eye is abnormal but, for some reason, the two eyes do not focus together.

The present greatest hope for those afflicted lies in early detection of the condition.

Studies suggest that if eye muscle defects are not corrected before the age of six, it may be impossible to remedy them in later life.

That is why it's so important for the vision of preschool children to be screened.

The usual eye test as conducted in elementary schools measures the ability to distinguish letters of standard size at a distance of 20 feet. This is not intended as a complete eye examination.

Teachers and parents are often unaware that 20-20 does not mean perfect vision.

Parents should always check out a child's complaint about not being able to see and, even though his eyes may have been tested in school recently.

A high percentage of American children have some form of abnormality but, for some reason, the two eyes do not focus together.

Anyone in his seventies or eighties who has hesitated to donate his eyes after death because of his age should be reassured. His eyes are just as valuable to the eye bank as those of a younger person.

Transplant surgery and restoring sight.

Further information, prospective donors may contact the Illinois Eye Bank at 220 South State St., Chicago, Ill. 60604 or telephone (312) 922-8710.

New methods of freezing human corneas for long range storage have resulted in another source of corneal tissue for transplantation, according to Maurice Rubb, M.D., medical director of the Illinois Eye Bank. The eye bank is funded and administered by the ISPB.

Stains have been developed which may help identify changes in corneal transplant tissue that might make it unsuitable for transplant surgery.

A factor over which there is no control at present is the development of an allergy to donor tissue. This can be treated but—if it does not respond—the graft turns cloudy. There is always some chance of this reaction developing, following transplantation.

Three chemicals have been found which successfully delay and even suppress graft reaction in animals and therefore might be useful in man in the future.

Animal tests indicate that it probably will soon be possible to replace a diseased cornea with artificial plastic corneas and restore sight.

Artificial corneas already have been used in humans successfully in several instances in the country, but extensive investigation must be done before they are used widely.

State-Local Taxes in Illinois Up 136% During the Past Ten Years

By MAURICE W. SCOTT

Executive Vice President Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

In the ten-year period of 1960-1970, state and local government taxes in Illinois increased 136%, from $206 per person in 1960 to $281 per person in 1970.

We all know that the property tax is still the chief money raiser for local governments. The state tax tried to keep pace during the 1960 period.

In fiscal 1960, the property tax in Illinois amounted to $100 per capita while in 1970 it amounted to $201, an increase of 84% per capita.

Other taxes—sales, use, income, utility, liquor, cigarette, etc.—amounted to $87 per capita in 1960 and $281 in 1970, an increase of 195% during the 10-year period.

Two taxes which are good revenue producers at the state level and are included under the term "other taxes" are the sales tax (including the use tax) and the income tax.

In fiscal 1960, the sales tax produced $34,440,330 at a 3% rate in Illinois, while in fiscal 1970 it produced $1,006,024,285 in fiscal 1970 at a 4% rate.

In 1960, there was no state income tax in Illinois, but such a tax became effective Aug. 1, 1969, and produced a net of $715,363,264 for fiscal 1970 (only a 10-month collection period).

The question is logically asked: Are such increases in state and local taxes necessary?

The answer is "yes" if one compares the rise in state and local government expenditures over the same 10 years.

In 1960, per capita expenditures for state and local governments was $217 (omitting capital outlay) and $281 (including capital outlay), an increase of about 123%.

Illinois does not stand alone in this picture. State and local taxes more than doubled in 32 of the 50 states. Oklahoma was at the bottom of the list with a 73% increase.

But, today the taxpayer in Illinois is not alone in being conscious of taxes than at any time in history. With more than three-fifths of all tax revenue being collected by the federal government, one-fifth by state governments and about one-fifth by local governments, the taxpayer is hurting.

No wonder he is hollering for economy in government. Cutting waste, a review of programs, a revamping of governmental agencies, and a re-evaluation of the integrity of the government, he is saying: "Let's examine the product before we spend the money."

"We know that there is no remedy for death and taxes, but we should be able to make them more peaceful."

1972 Outlook—Many Legislators Retiring, Seeking Higher Office

By RAY SERATI

Copy News Service

Springfield—One thing seems certain. After the 1972 elections, there will be new faces in the Illinois General Assembly.

In all, there are over 40 lawmakers not seeking re-election next year. This could throw somewhat of a crimp in the 1972 session of the General Assembly.

With this many "lame duck" lawmakers stepping out, there may be little excitement in the General Assembly.

In the Senate, there will be 14 members not coming back while in the House there are about 15 members not returning. Then there are many House members seeking Senate offices, and several others are either running for statewide offices or Congressional seats.

Three members of the legislature are seeking statewide office.

Rep. James Dunlap Nowlan, a Republican from Toulon, has been selected by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie as his running mate for Lieutenant Governor.

The youthful Nowlan has served two terms in the General Assembly. He is 30 years old and is working on his doctor's degree from the University of Illinois.

Rep. George W. Lindberg, a Republican from Crystal Lake, is running for comptroller on the GOP ticket. He earlier had announced for secretary of state but at the last minute decided to run for the comptroller post.

Lindberg has headed the House Ethics Committee and was instrumental in getting a governmental code of conduct bill through the House in the November session.

The Democrats have slated Sen. Thomas G. Lyons as their candidate for attorney general.

Three state representatives will be running for Congress. Rep. George M. O'Brien, R-Joliet, and Rep. John J. Houlahan, D-Park Forest, will be facing each other in that Congressional district. Rep. Edward Madison, R-Lincoln, is seeking a Congressional seat from a district in north central Illinois.

Four House members will be squaring off against each other for seats in the Illinois Senate.

Rep. Anthony Scarsone, D-Park Forest, will face Rep. Don A. Moore, R-Midlothian, in a south Cook County district.

Rep. A. C. Bartulis, R-Bell, will go against Rep. Jerry Corbett, D-Hardin, in a south central Illinois district.

Senator, Governor Races On Both Party Tickets

A complete list of candidates who filed nominating petitions in the office of Secretary of State, John W. Lewis, for the March 21, 1972, primary election, was announced at Springfield.

Where a tie exists in the time of filing, the candidates are listed alphabetically. Ties will be broken by lot at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 12, in the office of Secretary of State. State-wide offices are listed on the ballot alphabetically and will rotate by legislative districts as provided by law.

The candidates are:
For United States Senator — Republican: Charles H. Percy, Wilmette, and S. Thomas Sutton, Wayne, Democratic: Roman C. Pucinski, Chicago, and W. Dakin Williams, Collinsville.

For Governor — Republican: John Mathis, Peoria, and Richard B. Ogilvie, Northfield, Democratic: Paul Simon, Troy, and Daniel Walker, Deerfield.

For Lieutenant Governor — Republican: James D. Nowlan, Toulon, Democratic: Neal E. Eckert, Carbondale, and Neil F. Hartigan, Chicago.

For Attorney General — Republican: William J. Scott, Springfield, Democratic: Thomas G. Lyons, Chicago.

For Secretary of State — Republican: Edmund J. Kucharski, Chicago, Democratic: Michael J. Howlett, Chicago.

For Comptroller — Republican: George W. Lindberg, Crystal Lake, Democratic: Dean Bar-

State Offering Free Polio Shots In Any Community Requesting Them

By GOVERNOR RICHARD B. OGILVIE

Now that the Christmas holidays are nearly over, we are all looking forward to a new year bright with promise and polio-free health. Clean cloth of good resolution.

But despite our New Year's resolutions, no one can predict what the new year will bring. Unforeseen events occur, resolutions are broken, and not always work out the way we hoped they would.

Some events, however, can be anticipated with a large degree of accuracy. Little warning signs appear—prophecies of imminent danger. If these warning signs are heeded and interpreted correctly, the larger danger can often be averted.

Illinois has already experienced warning signs of a possible serious danger—to you and your children.

Our state health officials, at this very moment, foresee the tragic possibility of a major polio problem occurring within the next year.

Immunization experts from our state health department report they have discovered an alarmingly high number of preschool children who have not been immunized against polio.

One reason for the lack of immunization is, perhaps, lack of knowledge on the part of many parents, who feel the risk of contracting polio is non-existent.

This is an understandable attitude, as everyone seems to have assumed that polio has been eradicated. And, for many years, we enjoyed a happy absence of this dreaded disease in Illinois.

Another explanation for the low immunization rates is the confusion caused by the variety of polio vaccines available since 1955.

First came the polio shots, then came the first oral vaccine (monovalent), then the trivalent oral vaccine. Each vaccine required a different number of doses given at various intervals.

We are now discovering that many people who thought they were completely safe from polio are NOT protected.

In some instances, they did not complete the entire series. In other instances, the doses were administered out of correct sequence, thus negating the effectiveness of the vaccine.

As a result, in the new year of 1972, the warning signs tell us that polio is returning to Illinois.

These warning signs must not go unheeded. They indicate an immediate and urgent need to immunize all pre-school children, at the very least.

Drug Test on Channel Nine Tomorrow Night

Channel 9 will test its viewers' knowledge of drugs and drug abuse when the educational television station airs the locally-produced "National Drug Test" at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The "Test," designed to increase as well as measure viewers' knowledge, consists of 20 questions in five areas: dependency, hallucinogens, stimulants, depressants, narcotics and legal background. Faculty members from the St. Louis College of Pharmacy and narcotics experts from this metropolitan area provide background information on the questions and answers.

Beginning Sunday, Jan. 9, Channel 9 will air "The Turned On Crisis," eight hour-long programs providing further information on drugs as a basis for understanding of the drug abuse problem. The series will be aired at 5 p.m. Sundays during January and February. A viewers' guide, titled "Primer on Drugs," is available to Channel 9 members enrolling in the series for $1.

Nonmembers may enroll in the series for $16, which includes the cost of a one-year membership in Channel 9. For further information on membership or "The Turned On Crisis," viewers are to write the station at 6996 Millbrook, St. Louis 63130.

These people are also usually very conscious of their health and believe in taking good care of themselves physically as well as mentally. They do not neglect symptoms of an illness nor do they ignore any recurring symptoms. They seek their doctors regular and faithfully follow the advice they are given.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

No-Fault Car Insurance Folders Being Mailed

Automobile insurers are mailing out endorsements and explanatory folders to policyholders for Illinois' new auto insurance law which goes into effect Jan. 1.

The law, known as the Illinois Extended Personal Injury Act and referred to as "no-fault insurance," provides new benefits and new ways of paying insurance claims for Illinois motorists.

To comply with the law, every private passenger auto liability policy issued or delivered after Jan. 1 must provide the following first-party benefits:

Medical, hospital and funeral expenses: Pays up to $2,000 per person for expenses incurred

Granite City PRESS-RECORD

within one year of the accident.

Income-wage payments: If disability caused by an accident prevents a person from performing his occupation, he can collect up to 85% of his weekly income, up to a maximum of $130 a week, for 52 weeks.

Loss-of-service benefits: This pays expenses incurred to replace services ordinarily performed by an unemployed injured person (such as a housewife). Maximum payment is $12 per day for up to 365 days.

Explanatory Folder

One Chicago firm that mailed an explanatory folder to thousands of their customers is American Automobile Insurance Brokers Inc. This has been so helpful in clarifying the new law that they have made the folder available to anyone who writes for it.

A spokesman for American Auto said, "Of course we did get a number of phone calls from people who could not relate the no-fault insurance benefits to the other driver."

To begin with, the new benefits apply only to medical costs, loss of income and loss of service. They do not cover damages to your car or your liability for damages to the property of others.

Secondly, these benefits and payments pertain to you and the people in your car, to others using your car with your permission, and to pedestrians who are struck by your car in Illinois. Payments will be made promptly by your own insurance company directly to you.

No more waiting for the other driver's insurance company to act, or for a court decision, to collect. The plan should reduce the number of minor claims that wind up in court.

In addition to the mandatory coverages named above, your insurance company is required under the new law to offer you the option to buy or decline additional protection: this is referred to as Optional Excess Coverages and simply extends and extends the basic benefits, as follows:

Extended Benefits
Medical, hospital and funeral expenses: Your policy can provide funeral costs up to $2,000 per person, medical and hospital costs up to $30,000 for one person, or $100,000 maximum for all persons injured, all payable without consideration of who was at fault.

Income-wage payments: You can extend for an additional 260 weeks payment of 85% of weekly salary, or maximum of $150.

Loss-of-service benefits: You can extend this payment for an additional 260 weeks.

With purchase of the Optional Excess Coverage, the policyholder can eliminate the uninsured motorist protection in his policy.

"No-fault insurance" does not absolve anyone of responsibility for causing an accident. All traffic laws and penalties still apply.

While every new auto policy will have these benefits, some policyholders will find they are not eligible to receive the benefits. They are:

Persons entitled to Workmen's Compensation benefits, or other benefits provided by the United States or any of its agencies, will have their payments reduced to the extent that other benefits apply.

Persons who contribute to their own personal injury through intentional injury while under influence of liquor or drugs, operating a car without a license or after it has been suspended or revoked, while trying to avoid arrest by a police officer, operating an auto in a race or on a bet or wager, operating or riding in a vehicle known to be stolen and while committing a felony.

City Temple Youths Aid Missionaries

Two young members of the City Temple Church, 1917 State St., were honored at a banquet at Askerman's restaurant in Edwardsville last week for their role in contributing to a $1,118 fund raised for the Speed of Light for missionaries.

Named king and queen for the evening were Rodney Flood and Miss Kristy Cope. They were selected for raising the largest amount of contributions.

The total sum was earned by the young members through various individual fund-raising projects conducted for one month. The donation will be used by missionaries to purchase vehicles such as cars or trucks for use in their work.

Seventy-five people attended the dinner, including other teenagers involved in the project, Joann Dahm, Tammy Monroe, Susan Owens, Pam Zeller, Mike Curry, Buddy Cope, Paul Maxfield and Kevin O'Sha. The Rev. Eugene Cope, pastor of the church, served as master of ceremonies, and the Rev. J. Alford of Springfield, Ill. was the principal speaker.

Early Admission Plan Approved By SIU Trustees

An Early admission plan for outstanding high school students who have finished their junior year and want to attend Southern Illinois University-Southwestern has been approved by the SIU Board of Trustees.

The plan will begin in the 1972 summer quarter and will be limited to 15 students the first year, with a gradual increase over a five-year period to a maximum of 100 students. It will be administered by the Deans College.

Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIU-SW said university programs for students below the college level are generally focused on the underprivileged and disadvantaged, but the early admissions program is designed specifically for the superior student.

Many persons are able to accomplish a successful college work without receiving a high school diploma or without having completed the General Education Development Test as an equivalent, he said.

To qualify, students must be recommended by their high school principal and must have parental approval. The high school from which the student would normally graduate must arrange for the granting of a high school diploma in the event that the student decides not to return to high school for the senior year.

Students admitted will have the option of returning for the senior year in high school or remaining at the university, provided they maintain a 3.5 grade point average on a 5-point scale.

Those who fail to make a 3.5 grade point average during the summer session must complete high school diploma requirements prior to continuing university work. Credits earned by students who subsequently return to high school will count toward SIU-SW graduation requirements when the students re-enroll.

Participants will be selected only from school districts whose board of education has entered into an agreement with the university covering the manner in which SIU-SW course credits will be used to satisfy mandatory requirements of the Illinois School Code for issuance of a high school diploma which the student has not satisfied at the time of admission to the university.

Fund to Aid Family of Girl Killed in Mishap

A fund has been established to aid the family of Kathy Ann Kozuch, 14, of 2206 Pine St., Grand Prairie, Tex., a former Granite City resident, who died Nov. 12 following an accident in which she fell from a moving vehicle.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. George Kozuch of Grand Prairie; three brothers, Mike Kozuch of California, John Reeves and George Smith of Illinois; four sisters, Miss Pamela Kozuch, Mrs. Diana Green and Mrs. Karen Stacy of Grand Prairie and Mrs. Norma Johnson of El Paso, Tex. and her grandfather, John Taylor of Granite City.

The late Miss Kozuch was a ninth grader at Jefferson Junior High School. Fellow students collected about $100 three days following her death and donated the sum to the family to help defray the unexpected expenses.

The family of the young girl announced it had donated her kidneys for transplant purposes to the Great Southwest General Hospital.

A team of surgeons from the University of Texas Southwest Medical School at Dallas and Dr. Wolcott Stewart of Fort Worth, the inventor of the Stewart Organ Bank, a portable organ pump used to keep the organ functioning until the transplant can be completed, performed the transplants.

One kidney was given to a man in Galveston, whom the doctors described as in poor condition because a transplanted kidney had received about two years ago was deteriorating.

The second kidney was taken to Nashville for a 63-year-old woman who had been dependent on a dialysis machine for three years because of diseased kidneys, according to Dr. Stewart.

Both kidneys were transplanted successfully within three days, according to a report from the doctor.

The court ordered that some of the 1,300 to 1,500 magazines and books confiscated at the store be destroyed, and that Tannahill leave the county and not return for one year.

Regional Report -- Seek Road Funds Lost During 'Freeze'

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)

Tidings of great joy rang out as the governing board of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council adopted a resolution favoring a new metropolitan area airport near Waterloo and Columbia in Illinois.

The favorable decision came despite a campaign launched earlier in the same week by a group of prominent Missouri businessmen, urging delay in approving the Illinois site.

Governor Richard Ogilvie's announcement that Illinois is ready and able to provide funds of up to $35.4 million for mass transit in the area, most of it earmarked to provide a link with the new jetport, gave an added advantage to proponents of the Illinois-based regional airport.

The East-West Gateway resolution, along with a request by the airport authority for approval of the Columbia-Waterloo site and for $8.4 million in matching federal funds to begin buying land for the airport, will now be sent to the Federal Aviation Administration.

In another East-West

Gateway action, the Transportation Task Force passed a resolution calling for restitution of the $10.5 million in highway funds used elsewhere in the state of Illinois during a two-year fund freeze in this area.

The resolution asks the Illinois Division of Highways to allocate $3.5 million for St. Clair County primary urban highways and $7 million for Madison County highways.

The Bi-State Development Agency announced the withdrawal of a $1.1 million federal grant application to build a new garage in East St. Louis. In its place, the Agency will request $1.1 million in federal money for 40 new buses for the Illinois area.

In industrial news, National Stock Yards in National City is remodeling one of its present buildings to be used as a 40,000-square-foot addition to its warehouse space.

Al Higgins has been named acting manager of the Nestle Company's Granite City instant tea plant, the largest such plant in the world.

Al Ober Nester Glass Co. in East St. Louis, Frank A. Vickery has been promoted to chairman and Brunson Cantrell to president. And the St. Louis Regional Industrial Development Corp., at its annual meeting, installed John F. Keydel as its new president.

According to the predictions of L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer of A. O. Smith Corp., corporation earnings in 1971 will be up 70% over 1970 operating profits.

New officers of various organizations include John Bell of Madison, new president of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission; Alois Lühr of Columbia, president of the Southern Illinois Builders Association; Marvin Hoffmann, re-elected for eighth consecutive one-year term as president of Lodge 121 of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers of East St. Louis; Clarence Decker, president elect of the Wood River Township Chamber of Commerce; Don Metzger, president-elect of the Edwardsville Chamber of Commerce; and Robert G. Hardy, re-elected president of the Press Club of Metropolitan St. Louis.

The Illinois Junior College Board has approved a $2.8 million budget for State Community College of East St. Louis and a $400,000 planning grant for East St. Louis Comprehensive Education Commission.

The planning grant is toward a proposed $16 million educational complex for East St. Louis which would serve all higher education needs for the city on one campus.

In general area news, Stevenson Supplies & Services of Alton is the apparent low bidder on a renovation job on the East Side Levee and Sanitary District's north pump station at East St. Louis; a $1000 fine has been imposed on Pfizer, Inc., East St. Louis, on a charge of violating Illinois air pollution laws.

Three site development plans for O'Fallon's 100-acre Rock Springs Park, drawn by 13 graduate students at SIU-SW, East St. Louis, on a charge of violating Illinois air pollution laws, were placed on display in the O'Fallon city hall; and Parks College of Aeronautical Technology, of St. Louis University held commencement exercises at Cahokia.

Gateway Council OKs Action Fund Request

Endorsement has been given by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council to an application submitted by the Madison County Community Action Program requesting Federal funds to operate its program for a nine month period.

The applicant is requesting $143,250 from the Office of Economic Opportunity. The total project cost is estimated at $179,063.

The board noted that the primary objective of this program is to alleviate the causes of poverty. There are three separate areas of concern. They are neighborhood centers, youth development and senior citizens. Neighborhood centers will be used to provide the means of maximum participation of the community. They will also be used as referral centers for coordination with the state and other Federal programs.

The youth department will be used to provide opportunity for youth through job training and tutorial programs. The senior citizens program will be used to provide health services to the aged.

Price, Wage Waiver Forms Now Available

If a serious hardship or a gross inequity has been imposed on you by the Economic Stabilization Program, you may be able to obtain a waiver of the rules to remedy the problem.

Jay G. Philpott, district director of Internal Revenue for central and southern Illinois, said today that the IRS is responsible for receiving and processing special requests for a waiver of economic stabilization rules, regulation or requirements.

The request must be submitted to the IRS in writing and clearly establish that a serious hardship or gross inequity has, or will result to the applicant because of the provisions of the Economic Stabilization Act.

All such requests will be forwarded, along with IRS recommendations to the Wage Board, Price Commission, or Cost of Living Council, as appropriate for decision. The applicant will be notified by letter of the action taken.

Philpott urged the use of Form S-16, Application for Exemption or Exemption, in making a request for waiver of stabilization controls. The Form S-16 assures that all the necessary information will be submitted for proper consideration of the request.

Copies of Form S-16, Application for Exemption or Exemption, can be obtained from any IRS office. The completed forms should be mailed to District Director of Internal Revenue, 325 West Adams St., Springfield, Ill. 62704.

41 Academic Assistance Programs at SIU-SW

A report on 41 academic assistance programs at the southwestern campus has been received by the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University.

President John S. Rendleman introduced the report, prepared by Prof. Emil F. Jason, assistant vice-president for special programs and minority affairs. Rendleman pointed out that the student population is diverse. He said this fact has stimulated "a diverse offering of specialized academic assistance programs designed to meet the many individualized needs of SIU-SW students."

Forty-one separate academic assistance programs are administered by 12 units of the university, according to the report. They are arranged in the following categories: clinical services; counseling relative to academic, personal and vocational problems; education problems; experimentation; financial aid; in-service training of public school teachers recruitment of students of minority ethnic groups; special training; and tutorial services.

Science, Technology Division The Science and Technology Division, the report says, has attempted to increase the effectiveness of instruction in local public schools through in-service training of teachers. The division sponsors programs to promote an attitude of sensitivity and responsibility with regard to disadvantaged students, the summer institute for high school mathematics teachers, an in-service program for elementary teachers and supervisors, and an in-service institute for high school teachers of mathematics.

Still in the planning stages is a fifth endeavor, a cooperative college-school service project for fourth, fifth and sixth grade mathematics teachers.

The Business Division sponsors several programs, the report says. The Alton Learning Community Program is a full-time undergraduate program which integrates various disciplines and relates itself to real problems in the community. The Professional Experience

Program is a work-study experience in which students alternate between six months of full-time work in a business which is closely aligned with their academic studies and six months of study at the University.

Academic Affairs The Office of Academic Affairs sponsors several experimental programs. Upward Bound is designed for disadvantaged high school juniors and seniors. The Experiment in Higher Education provides services for disadvantaged college freshmen and sophomores. According to the report, these programs also include tutorial services, the biology faculty, the journalism faculty, and the mathematics faculty also offer tutorial services.

The academic advisement and counseling areas seem to be particularly strong at SIU-SW, according to the report. These services are provided by academic units, as well as by the Counseling and Testing Center, a part of the Office of Student Affairs.

In addition to providing individual and group counseling, the center has programs for special students, such as veterans and members of minority groups. The Counseling and Testing Center has also begun a test anxiety reduction program designed to help students reduce anxiety about taking tests, giving of presentations, or participating in related school activities.

Compensatory Programs Among other programs described in the report are compensatory programs. These include the study skills program of the General Studies Division, designed to motivate students and improve their basic learning skills.

Other services include a writing clinic, sponsored by the Humanities Division, and the Academic Affairs Office supplemental instruction program, offered to give disadvantaged high school graduates an opportunity to prepare themselves for successful college work.

Miscellaneous assistance programs described in the report include a limited financial aid program in the Graduate School, clinical help offered by the Speech Department, testing services provided by the Office of Student Affairs, and the library instruction unit, offered by library staff members to prepare students to use library facilities.

The report recommends that each unit of the university "make a concerted effort to offer as many academic assistance programs as possible."

Veterans Benefit From New Laws Raising Pensions

More than two million disabled veterans, widows, orphans, and dependent parents will benefit immediately from legislation signed by the President, according to John B. Naser, director of the Veterans Administration regional office in Chicago.

Naser said the announcement of the signing was of great importance to veterans and their dependents. The two bills, H.R. 11631 and H.R. 11632, will have a massive impact in several ways. Naser said the new legislation would aid not only those veterans and dependents now on the rolls of the VA, but would financially aid those who will hereafter enter VA rolls for benefits.

The President's quick action in signing the legislation enacted by Congress has prevented hardships that would have occurred starting Jan. 1 when social security increases become effective, Naser said.

Without the legislation, the Chicago director pointed out,

Alcoholics Need Not Die in Illinois Jails

Third of a 4-part series
By L. T. FRUIN, M.D.
President, Illinois State
Medical Society

Every year, scores of alcoholics needlessly die in Illinois jails.

Why? Because alcoholics are jailed rather than given the medical care they need.

This is not true in Rockford, Ill., where nine different social and medical agencies provide a "Coordinated Diagnostic Referral and Treatment Network" for alcoholics.

While all nine participating agencies are vital to the success of the network, especially important is Rockford Memorial Hospital's detoxification unit and the alcoholic rehabilitation program at the H. Douglas Singer Mental Health Zone Center.

The detoxification unit is important because significant rehabilitation therapy cannot be undertaken until an alcoholic is "dried-out" and receives treatment for any serious medical problems. This is specialized medical treatment has saved lives.

Up to four deaths a year were occurring in Rockford jail before the unit was established. The cause—medical complications of alcoholism.

Such deaths are not unique to Rockford.

Alcoholic deaths in jails throughout the state are common because most chronic alcoholics are in poor physical shape from long years of drinking. They may have bleeding ulcers, cirrhosis of the liver and broken bones or other complications from falling while drunk.

To make matters worse, an alcoholic may not even realize he's injured. Even if he does, he may be too intoxicated to describe the symptoms.

About 40% of all arrests in Rockford are related to alcohol, according to police statistics. Naturally, the hospital's 18-bed detoxification unit can't handle every drunk arrested.

But Rockford police have been able to admit chronic alcoholics and any intoxicated person they believe has a medical problem. When in doubt, they admit the individual to the hospital.

Rockford Memorial has found that 70% to 75% of all patients admitted in a chronic or acute intoxicated state have medical or surgical problems needing the facilities of a general hospital for treatment, according to Dr. Donald Wortmann, the hospital's director of medical education.

To identify these patients, physicians administer complete laboratory studies and x-rays. These tests often uncover medical problems which could have resulted in death or serious injury had the alcoholic been jailed.

There have been no deaths in Rockford jails since the program went into effect. A bonus, as far as police are concerned, is that jail occupancy rates have been almost cut in half.

"I'm behind the detoxification program 100%," said Delbert Peterson, Rockford police chief. "The program certainly has been helpful."

Alcoholics themselves are the biggest backers of the unit. "It's a thousand times better than being jailed," one patient said. "Most jails treat you bad. It makes you think, the heck with it. If they don't give a darn about me, why should I? So, you go out and get drunk again."

"It doesn't happen that way here, though," he continued. "Patients here are treated like human beings. The orderlies—alcoholics who have gone on the wagon—provide inspiration. The program here makes you feel as if you are worth something. You begin to think about giving up the bottle."

Helping the alcoholic think about that big step are counselors from the Northern Illinois

Council on Alcoholism. NICA is one of the participating agencies which form Rockford's "Coordinated Diagnostic Referral and Treatment Network."

One such counselor is himself a former alcoholic.

"The hardest thing for an alcoholic to do is admit he is one," he said. "Sometimes it takes more than one trip through the detox before an alcoholic realizes he's hooked—that he can't handle the stuff."

Statistics back up this observation. During one nine-month period, the detoxification unit treated 724 individuals—but had 1,448 admissions. Of the 724 patients, 253 returned a second time. Sixty-five returned three times, 22 four times and 40 returned for treatment five or more times.

"The day comes, though," the counselor said, "when an alcoholic wakes up in one of our hospital rooms after a drunken bout and doesn't remember how he got there. 'My gosh,' he might say, 'what am I doing to myself? That's when he finally realizes he's an alcoholic.'"

That's when the patient may take the advice of NICA counselors and accept referral to one of the network's cooperating agencies.

If his case is so serious that community agencies can't help, the alcoholic is referred to the Zone Center. Follow-up support is given by agencies or individuals in home communities.

In the Rockford area, that support is given by other agencies which participate in the "Coordinated Network."

These agencies include the Salvation Army, Winnebago County Mental Health Clinic, Family Consultation Service, Protestant Welfare, Alcoholics Anonymous and Alcure Home, Inc., which operates a halfway house designed to ease alcoholics back into society.

A discharged patient also may receive help and support from clergymen, mental health advisors, former "graduates" of the Singer Center or other interested persons. The center also has counselors who keep in touch with the patients for up to two years after their discharge.

Studies show the zone center's program is very successful. The center's "return" rate is less than 21%. Other programs across the nation boast 30% to 40% return rates as low.

The cooperation between the many Rockford agencies willing to help alcoholics is one of the reasons the program is so successful. Modified to meet local needs, such a cooperative program could serve as a model for comprehensive treatment programs in other areas of this state.

Even so, resources of the center's 18-bed alcoholism treatment unit are often strained.

"We have only so many beds and others are constantly waiting in," Dr. Stinson said. "We can't turn them down and still be a crisis institution, so we shoot for a relatively short term stay, say four to six weeks, and discharge the patient to his home community."

"We believe a shorter stay of more intensive treatment is more beneficial to the patient, particularly if he can be returned to his community and helped by supporting agencies."

"Intensive treatment" means just that. Patients receive treatment almost 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

They are involved in weekly therapy planning conferences, daily self-analysis role-playing sessions, vocational preparation groups and confrontation conferences with other patients and staff members.

Patients also participate in "activity therapy"—an opportunity to participate in sports, ceramics, sewing, cooking, leathercraft and woodshop—all designed to show the patient he can accomplish something.

The alcoholic also participates in the center's educational series, an ongoing discussion about alcoholism.

In role playing groups, the patient is part of a group which acts out situations and attempts to interpret the patient's feelings and attitudes. A typical role playing session might go like this:

"You really don't like me," sneered a heavy-set woman playing a patient's mother-in-law.

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Mon., Dec. 27, 1971 Page 15

"You're right," yelled the patient. "I can't stand the sight of you."

The patient may actually be showing his true feelings about his mother-in-law . . . or wife, father, or someone else depending on what life situation the group is playing.

It often takes all the knowledge and understanding staff members possess to get patients involved in such activities.

For instance, alcoholics usually have very false images of themselves. They see themselves as they once were . . . or thought they were. Often they can't accept the fact they need therapy.

Singer Center has an interesting technique to make the patient realize he needs help. The patient is placed in a room and a 30-minute videotape of his actions is made. The tape is then replayed for the patient alone.

Realizing the camera doesn't lie, the patient sees himself as he really is. During one such session, one patient said:

"Gosh, I'm thin. I'm killing myself!"

From that moment on the patient realized he needed help. He was on the road to recovery.

That road doesn't end when the patient is discharged from the Zone Center. Follow-up support is given by agencies or individuals in home communities.

In the Rockford area, that support is given by other agencies which participate in the "Coordinated Network."

These agencies include the Salvation Army, Winnebago County Mental Health Clinic, Family Consultation Service, Protestant Welfare, Alcoholics Anonymous and Alcure Home, Inc., which operates a halfway house designed to ease alcoholics back into society.

Farmers' Income Tax Guide Available at Farm Bureau

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Madison County
Extension Adviser

Free copies of the 1972 farmers' income tax guide are available to Madison county farmers from the county extension office in Edwardsville.

The guide explains in everyday language how to prepare and file income tax returns. It also has illustrated examples which apply to actual farming situations and sample returns keyed to text explanations.

The guide also tells what income must be reported, what expenses may be deducted and how to claim depreciation and soil and water conservation expenses.

Also listed are important dates to remember for filing tax returns, including when social security taxes are due.

The guide stresses the importance of good records in filing a proper return.

The U. S. Treasury Department's Internal Revenue Service prepared the tax guide with the advice and assistance of the Federal Extension Service.

Every farmer needs to know enough about income tax regulations to be able to make sound tax management decisions in his farm business.

But most farmers believe they do not need to know all the regulations necessary to file their income tax. They hire a professional tax practitioner to prepare their returns.

Attend Tax School
Fifty-seven Madison county tax practitioners attended a recent two-day farm income tax school sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service, Illinois Department of Revenue and University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

The schools were for persons who prepare income tax returns for others and were not open to the general public. Farmers need complete and accurate farm business records to keep pace with rapid changes in agriculture.

A simple account book in which to keep records for income tax purposes is the minimum record needed. Such a book is published by the University of Illinois Department of Agriculture and Economics and is available at the county extension office for a small fee. Many Madison county farmers use such a book.

Other farm records systems allow a complete farm business analysis and the services of a fieldman trained to help farmers with business analysis and management decisions.

More than 25 percent of Illinois farmers who sell $40,000 or more of produce each year keep records with the farm management analysis program offered by the Illinois Farm Business Farm Management Association.

Each farmer enrolled receives year-end cash-flow, profit and loss, and net worth charts and a comparative analysis. The reports are prepared by electronic computers in cooperation with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

The Schermers Bulletin...

We hope you had a Merry Christmas. And now for a Happy New Year we have a real big New Year's Sale. Everything from hog's heads (we really sell them) to some extra large jumbo shrimp which we just located. In fact, if you are having a party, just check these two pages.

Last year we received a long distance phone call from Bozeman, Montana, requesting us to have a turkey baked and delivered for a present. This year we received the following letter:

December 13, 1971

Dear Mr. Schermers
Enclosed you'll find a check to cover the cost of a ham to be prepared and delivered for my mother for Christmas. Please make delivery to (name and address deleted).

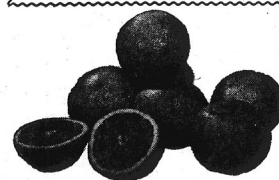

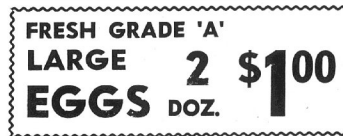

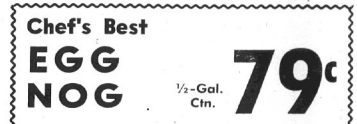

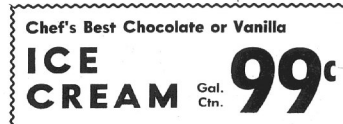

I wish to thank you for your splendid job on the turkey last year. This service is deeply appreciated. Happy Hanukkah and God continue to bless you.

Shalom,

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie W. Nelson
514 South 15th Avenue
Bozeman, Montana 59715

Well, our friend, Leo Lip at Bellemore Bakery is baking the ham and it will be delivered. It really makes us feel good that people as far away as Montana still remember Schermers Bros. and feel free to call on us. Again let us remind you to do your shopping early this week. Friday will again be a "short" day with a 6:00 p.m. closing. Don't get caught in the last minute scramble. We'll do our best Friday, but our best is never good enough for these kinds of days. So, friend, if you shop Friday and things aren't running as fast as you usually find them, don't say we didn't warn you. One final word. We all wish all of you the Happiest of New Years in 1972. May the New Year bring you all good health, happiness, prosperity, and as our friend in Montana said "Shalom" (Peace).

Act to Cut 1971 Taxes Before the Year Ends

It's time for taxpayers to analyze their tax liabilities for this year and to take steps to hold their obligations to a minimum, according to David J. Bramson, chairman of the committee on taxation, Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants.

"The government does not want anyone to pay a penny more in taxes than the law calls for," Bramson says, "and it expects every taxpayer to take every legitimate action to avoid overpayment."

"If, through ignorance of the provisions of the tax laws, however, a taxpayer fails to take all the deductions, exemptions and exclusions available to him, the Internal Revenue Service cannot be expected to call the oversight to his attention."

If you have had no big deductible expenses such as interest, taxes, medical bills, etc., during the year, Bramson suggests that instead of itemizing deductions you consider taking the standard deduction, which is 13% of adjusted income, with a maximum deduction of $1,500.

But if you have sizeable deductions in 1971 and do not expect the same in 1972, it might be to your advantage, he says, to itemize your deductions this year and take the standard deduction next year, especially since the standard deduction will rise in 1972 to 14% or 15% of income (depending on the outcome of legislation now before Congress) with a maximum deduction of $2,000.

If you decide to take this route, it is wise to pile as many deductible expenses into this year as you can. Ways of doing this include paying medical bills, now (but not preparing them) rather than waiting until after the first of the year, preparing some taxes and interest charges, and making 1972 charitable contributions early.

For example, the estimated payment due in January on Illinois state income tax could be paid in December. By alternately itemizing deductions one year (and "bunching" deductible expenses in that year) and then taking the standard deduction the next year, appreciable savings can be made by taxpayers in the lower middle brackets.

(A second article will deal with year-end advice for taxpayers who have gains or losses from the sale of securities.)

Rabies Continues As a Common Health Problem

(This is the first in a series of four articles on rabies. It is designed to present a broader knowledge of this disease which plagues Illinois. The articles have been prepared by the Division of Preventive Medicine of the Illinois Department of Public Health.)

Is rabies a "modern" disease? Is it fatal? How much of a problem is it in Illinois? in Madison county?

Rabies, also called hydrophobia, is not a new disease. But it is just as fatal today as it was in ancient times. The earliest evidence of rabies is in wall murals of ancient civilizations. These show a mad dog running through the streets of a city terrorizing the inhabitants.

The first written record of rabies dates back to 300 B. C. In that year Democritus, a Greek, reported seeing not until 600 years later that medicine discovered rabid dogs actually caused hydrophobia in man.

Disease Spreads

North America was free from rabies in 1801 when this country's first settlement was established in Virginia. Not until 152 years later, 1753, was rabies seen here; it appeared in that first settlement in Virginia. By 1860, the disease rapidly crossed the continent and appeared in California in 1898.

During this period there were reports concerning encounters with rabid skunks. These tales describe skunks attacking oen, horses and dogs of settlers. In fact, entire mining camps were routed by the animals, the miners fearing the bites more than the odor.

Every one of the 50 states except Hawaii has been host to the disease at one time or another.

And what of today? Three states reported no rabies for the entire year of 1968, the most recent year for which national figures are available. Illinois was not one of these; in fact, only six states exceeded this state's total of 143 cases.

Rabid Dogs, Cats

Rabid dogs and cats present a much greater public health problem than other animals. True, only about 10% of the rabid animals each year are dogs and cats but 65% of the humans exposed have been in contact with a rabid dog or cat.

The 1969 total of 104 cases breaks down like this: dogs, 2; cats, 5; foxes, 8; cattle, 19; skunks, 68; and bats, 2. Thus, it can be seen that many other species, besides dogs are infected.

Unhappily, 4 of these 104 cases came from Madison County.

Contrast the above with the fact that there were 53 counties in Illinois which did not report a single case of rabies in 1969.

Down through the years, improved methods for the control of animal rabies have greatly reduced the number of annual cases. When dog vaccination became a law in Illinois, cases fell from a high of 206 rabid dogs in 1954 to 41 in 1965.

This marked decrease in animal rabies has been responsible for a corresponding drop in human cases. Since 1954 there has not been a single case of rabies in humans in the entire state. Much of this drop is also due to the effectiveness of the Pasteur series of vaccinations.

In the past 30 years, more than one-half the human deaths have been children 14 years and younger—a valid reason in itself for eliminating the disease.

YMCA to Offer New Lifesaving Course

The Tri-City Area YMCA is announcing another Senior Lifesaving Course at the "Y," Ronald Ireland, aquatic administrator at the "Y," said the senior lifesaving course is designed for:

1. Correct knowledge of the hazards of aquatic participation and how to avoid and prevent the physical and preliminary swimming test qualifications.
2. Comprehensive training for everyone in swimming and during information and skills.
3. A responsible attitude towards the promotion of safe conduct, and habits.
4. Correct skills in the use of small craft.
5. Comprehensive training in lifesaving Wednesday, Jan. 19, and ending March 22. Theory class from 7 p.m.-8:30 p.m., and Practical Waterwork from 8:30 p.m.-10 p.m. Fees for the class are: "Y" members $8 and non-members $15.

For senior lifesaving instructions, persons are eligible who have passed their fifteenth birthday, or who have completed the ninth grade and completed the physical and preliminary swimming test qualifications.

Ireland added that after the lifesaving course has been completed a water safety instruction course will be offered starting April 12.

Those interested in further information or registration may apply at the YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., Granite City, or call 876-7200.

2 Persons Injured

In 3-Auto Accident

Two persons were injured when autos driven by Shirley A. Hillis, 2422 Madison Ave., and Charles Farrell, 2208 Adams St., and a tandem driven by Robert W. Bell, 4749 Vincent Ave., were in an accident at 1:15 p.m. Thursday at E. 23rd Street and Nameoki Road.

Mrs. Hillis and Karen Hillis, 13, of the Madison Avenue address, were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Both were treated and released following x-rays.

Burglars Loot Home, Door Glass Broken

Burglars looted a home at 2019 Quincy St. owned by Ralph Davis of St. Louis during the night, it was reported at 4 p.m. Thursday. Entry was gained by breaking a door glass.

Taken were a tent valued at $120, a camp stove valued at $20, rods and reels valued at $30, a foam rubber mattress valued at $80, a coffee table, a pipe collection and assorted tools.

Claims Address False

Price -- Congress Responded to Inflation, Tax, Consumer, Environmental, Health Issues During Its 1971 Session

By CONGRESSMAN
MELVIN PRICE

Much of the story of the first session of the 92nd Congress has been written in the last four months. Much of that story concerns our nation's economic health.

This is not to suggest that our efforts before the August recess were less noteworthy. Rather, the Administration did not react to our economic plight until August—when President Nixon announced Phase I of the wage-price freeze, a complete reversal of his earlier policies.

Faced with severe economic dislocation for nearly three years, Congress has continually provided both leadership and support for the President in coming to grips with our inflationary recession.

We are not out of the woods yet, and there is deep concern that the Administration's delay in recognizing the seriousness of the problem may dampen a quicker recovery.

Congress can be proud of the record it has written in the first session.

With the economic field, the health field, human resources, social welfare, energy policy, environmental and consumer protection, law enforcement and governmental reform, Congress has demonstrated its willingness to meet its responsibilities.

Obviously, each proposal we fashion into law does not satisfy every demand; under our system of government, checks and balances, of give and take, the end product reflects that which is attainable.

What has been attained during this session reflects the spirit in Congress that it is responsible for conducting the public business in a manner conducive to the national well-being.

ECONOMIC FIELD
The Economic Stabilization Act of 1971 provides for an extension of the executive power to maintain wage and price controls.

We have been able to see in the actual workings of the President's policies how this legislative extension needed to be modified to correct some of the inequities in the present program that threaten to hurt more than they help.

Since 1969, the cost of living has increased 20% while our economic growth has risen only 3.8%—$74 billion below the economy's potential. Hopefully, the situation will improve as the President utilizes his new authority.

Narrowing our scope to tax reform, I am happy to report more streamlined taxation formulas—such as increasing the individual deduction to $675 in the Tax Reform Act—which will provide beneficial to the individual taxpayer.

Unemployment continues to be a serious problem.

The overall unemployment rate is 6%; since January 1969, an additional two million Americans are now unemployed, including high skilled engineers and teachers. Over 10% of black Americans are unemployed, with their unemployment rate close to 40% in our central cities.

Unfortunately, the President vetoed the Accelerated Public Works measure designed to combat unemployment and help local governments meet pressing local water and sewer requirements.

Fortunately, he did sign the Emergency Employment Act, which authorized $2.25 billion for public works employment and related training and manpower services.

This is not enough, and certain new measures scheduled for the next Session promise to accomplish a great deal in restoring health to our economy. The decline of our economy since 1969 has affected the American farmer, who receives the same amount for his corn and wheat that he received in the 1940s, at a time when farm costs are increasing and food prices the consumer are also increasing.

In an effort to repair some of the damage, the House approved the Emergency Grain Commodities for the purpose of Reserve bill, which should improve the prices of agricultural strengthening our food markets. Senate action is pending.

HEALTH FIELD

Congress passed a $1.6 billion attack on cancer and a comprehensive Health Manpower Training Act. Health manpower has become a serious problem and by providing loans for medical students and nurses and construction assistance grants for schools in the health professions—we should be able to reduce our adverse doctor and nurse-to-patient ratio to a more acceptable level.

Another House-passed measure, a credit against state medical education, provides assistance to state medical schools.

Attention has been turned to the plight of those afflicted with serious diseases other than cancer, such as sickle cell anemia, which affects 50,000 black Americans.

Black lung disease, which affects coal miners, has also been a source of concern. The House approved an improved program of benefits for those afflicted.

HUMAN RESOURCES AND SOCIAL WELFARE

The Higher Education Act of 1971, passed by the House and Senate, will provide the necessary fiscal relief to our institutions of higher learning.

The institutional aid formula will provide federal assistance on a per-capita student basis. I know this will help the colleges in the St. Clair-Madison area.

Both House and Senate passed the Economic Opportunity Act Amendments of 1971, an innovative provision of which would establish a program for a broad range of educational, nutritional and health services to pre-school children.

However, the bill was vetoed by the President.

Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation amendments would permit treatment methods, such as the use of methadone, that would control and eliminate the dependence on addicting drugs. Hopefully, the Senate will act on this House-passed bill early in the next Session of Congress.

Also awaiting action by the Senate are Social Security Act Amendments of 1971, which passed the House on June 22. This legislation was delayed by the Senate at the request of the President.

It includes a 10% across-the-board increase to implement the 8% increase effective Jan. 1, 1971. The House passed two bills important to veterans. One expands the drug treatment program for veterans; the other extends hospital and medical care benefits to veterans' dependents.

Steps were taken to offset the Department of Agriculture's attempt to limit the National School Lunch Program by ensuring that every needy school child receives a free or reduced-price lunch.

ENVIRONMENTAL AND CONSUMER PROTECTION
The House-passed Federal Environmental Pesticide Control Act of 1971 is a step forward in more comprehensive regulation and control over the manufacture, distribution and use of pesticides which may be harmful to human health.

A total of $14 billion is written into the Water Quality Standards Act of 1971, as passed by the Senate, for the purpose of waste treatment plant construction, plus an additional $2 billion for various other water pollution abatement programs.

It establishes as federal policy the goals of making the nation's waters suitable for fish propagation and swimming by 1981, and of terminating all discharges of pollution into navigable waters by 1985. I urge early passage by the House in the next Session.

I am glad to have played a part in securing an additional appropriation of $8 million for the Kaskaskia River navigation program. The allocation insured continuance of 450 jobs which otherwise would have been lost.

For fiscal year 1972, Congress appropriated $33,480,000 for seven area floor control and navigation projects designed to protect and develop our waterways and communities.

The projects include the St. Clair-Madison County interior flood control program, $250,000 for advance engineering and design; Cahokia Dam construction, $500,000; Kaskaskia navigation project construction, $24,710,000 including the $8,000,000 supplemental appropriation; Alton Lock and Dam 26, advance engineering and design, $1,700,000; Mississippi River Navigation Channel, operation and maintenance, $6,130,000; Chain of Rocks navigation construction, $200,000; and Silver Creek, general investigation, $25,000.

Zeroing in on more effective protection, the House sent to the Senate a Consumer Protection Act of 1971, which would abolish the outmoded Food and Drug Administration and establish an Office of Consumer Affairs within the executive office of the President and an independent Consumer Protection Agency which would set regulations and represent the consumer in certain court suits.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

Our crime problem hurts the most when the criminals are juveniles.

Congress has enacted the Juvenile Delinquency Prevention and Control Act to establish an interdepartmental Council on Juvenile Delinquency to coordinate all federal delinquency programs and to provide financial assistance to state and local law enforcement agencies to deal with this problem.

Also, Congress voted additional funding for the comprehensive study of how better to deal with the marijuana and drug abuse problem.

FOREIGN POLICY.

The so-called "winding down" of our military presence in the Indo-China conflict is progressing steadily.

But there is still room for accelerated troop withdrawals and the bloodshed as soon as possible.

I succeeded in having my Vietnam cease-fire resolution adopted as an amendment to the Military Selective Service Act of 1971, and I have also introduced another resolution to take advantage of the traditional holiday truce by urging a U. S.-initiated ceasefire to end the bloodshed as soon as possible.

Congress, mindful of its responsibilities to the American people, implemented the use of record teller votes for the first time, thus permitting the recording of votes on amendments.

This reform has resulted in an 89% increase in the number of record votes, a 150% increase in the number of Congressmen course, have the right to defend themselves.

The Pakistan-India conflict is of serious concern to Congress. Certainly, we do not want to see the United States involved in another conflict, and serious concern has been expressed over our policies to date.

Observers have suggested that the United States, by criticizing the government of India, has diminished our chances of strengthening our friendship with the Russia, India, China-Pakistan lineup; seemingly placed us morally and politically on the side of West Pakistan, which has brutally suppressed the East Pakistanis, and restricted our maneuverability with India.

Clearly, President Nixon's forthcoming trip to Mainland China is an important change in American foreign policy.

As I reported to my constituents after my trip to the Far East with House Speaker Carl Albert, concern was expressed over the fate of Taiwan. China. It has been my position that, if a delegation from Mainland China were admitted to the United Nations, the Taiwan-Chinese delegation should have retained its membership.

Unfortunately, the United Nations voted the other way. We can only hope that the President's trip will establish the groundwork for leading to the peace we all seek.

In the Middle East, the people of Israel still face hostile neighbors who are being supported by Soviet men and materials. Unfortunately, a sale of F-4 Phantom Jets to Israel has been reportedly held up for over half a year.

Congress has voted financial credits and has encouraged the Administration to assist Israel in meeting its military needs. Toward this goal, I have introduced a resolution calling for sale of the delayed aircraft to Israel.

GOVERNMENTAL REFORM.

Congress, mindful of its responsibilities to the American people, implemented the use of record teller votes for the first time, thus permitting the recording of votes on amendments.

This reform has resulted in an 89% increase in the number of record votes, a 150% increase in the number of Congressmen voting, and record votes for the first time on a number of major issues involving our domestic priorities.

Additionally, both the Democratic caucus and the Republican conference modified the seniority system to encourage more leadership opportunities for new members.

The House moved toward assuring the legal equality of women by passing the equal rights amendment. Senate action is pending.

One of the most important events during the 92nd Congress was ratification of the constitutional amendment extending the right to vote to citizens 18 years of age or older in all elections. Our young citizens now have the opportunity to become even more actively involved in the electoral process.

Another important aspect of the electoral process involves campaign election reform.

Congress passed the first major legislation in 46 years designed to hold down campaign costs and reveal the source and use of contributions.

It imposes a ceiling on the amounts candidates for President and Congress can spend on television and other costly advertising.

Obviously, an expenditure limit is only one side of the problem. The source of funds also must be considered.

Congress, in the 1971 Tax Reform Act, moved toward expanding the base of funding by enabling taxpayers to claim tax for one-half of their political contributions, with a maximum credit of $25.

As an alternate to the credit, individuals are permitted to deduct their political contributions up to $100 in the case of a joint return.

These provisions apply to contributions made in 1972 and after.

A third provision was enacted—the so-called check-off procedure for financing Presidential election campaign.

Taxpayers can designate that the dollar they check off either may be set aside for the candidate of a specific political party or they can designate that it be set aside in a nonpartisan general account—or they can make no designation at all. This provision goes into effect in 1976.

In conclusion, Congress has acted responsibly toward meeting the nation's public needs. Because of the concern over the impact of government spending on efforts to control inflation, Congress cut Administration spending requests by over $1.6 billion in nonessential areas while adding funds to important domestic programs.

The first session served in part for establishing the legislative priorities for the second session.

These priorities include welfare reform, revenue sharing, trade legislation, pension protection and completion of action on bills acted on in the first session. New proposals will be offered and considered carefully on their merits.
